Bibliography of Research of Medical, Physical and Cognitive Conditions Affecting Driver Fitness

Abstract

The Superintendent of Motor Vehicles is responsible to set and enforce standards of medical fitness for drivers. The Superintendent uses but is not legally bound by guidelines set out in the "Guide for Physicians in Determining Fitness to Drive a Motor Vehicle" (1997), developed by the British Columbia Medical Association.

The current Guide (1997) is the seventh edition in 35 years of collaboration between the BC Medical Association (BCMA) and the Motor Vehicle Branch (now OSMV). The guidelines derive from a combination of experience, advice from practicing physicians and members of the specialty sections of the BCMA, general medical consensus and the application of common sense.

This reliance on medical opinion and expertise has, with some justification, been called into serious question under the Human Rights Code, and a more systematic understanding of the evidence underlying the guidelines is necessary. For this reason, research of empirical evidence is required to prevent inappropriate changes to guidelines through human rights litigation, and to ensure valid human rights concerns are recognized along with public safety interests.

This bibliography forms the initial component for the research to conduct an extensive 'state of the art' review of current literature that will endeavor to present current and past thinking on the application of medical standards to the task of driving. Such a literature review will serve as a foundation for subsequent project and research tasks required to establish complete and comprehensive driver fitness guidelines.

Parameters

International literature was reviewed with the highest number of publications originating from North America, United Kingdom, Japan, German and Scandinavian literature, addressing medical standards and driving. Articles written in a language other than English are identified within square brackets.

The material reviewed encompasses all medical categories addressed in the current Guide (1997) with the exception of the Drug and Alcohol categories. Due to the extensive volume and broad content of the citations available in these categories, a separate review will be conducted.

Particular emphasis was given to information relating to the last ten years, however earlier information was also assembled dating back to 1960. The material reviewed includes only published sources.

Abstracts, articles and reports concerning medical fitness to drive were analysed and prioritized based on the potential value for supporting or denying the guidelines.

All citations and web sites listed are considered to be correct at the time of publication. Changes in circumstances after the time of publication may impact on the accuracy of this information.

Description of the Search Strategy and Sources Consulted

Search Strategy

The search strategy used for the compilation of the bibliography was based on the publication "Guide for Physicians in Determining Fitness to Drive a Motor Vehicle", British Columbia Medical Association, 1997. This publication outlines the various medical categories that were used as a starting point for the search. Keywords within these categories were searched systematically for each database consulted. The databases differed in scope, features and presentation and the keyword searching was adapted accordingly. For the Transport database, keyword, phrase and descriptor searching were used. Medline was searched by keyword in the title field only. As a general rule, library online catalogues were searched by keyword and by Library of Congress Subject Headings. Duplication of entries was kept to a minimum by cross-checking some of the databases towards the end of the project.

Sources of Information:

The databases searched included:

MEDLINE DATABASE (PUBMED FORMAT via National Library of Medicine)
Internet Web Address: http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/entrez/query.fcgi?db=PubMed

Resource Type: Article citations with abstracts
Description: MEDLINE is the NLM's premier bibliographic database covering the fields of medicine, nursing, dentistry, veterinary medicine, the health care system, and the preclinical sciences. MEDLINE contains bibliographic citations and author abstracts from more than 4,000 biomedical journals published in the United States and 70 other countries. The file contains over 10 million citations dating back to 1966 to the present. Coverage is worldwide, but most records are from English language sources or have English abstracts.

TRANSPORT CD ROM

Resource Type: Bibliographic citations with abstracts
Description: Combines the databases and knowledge of three leading research organizations: OECD's International Road Research Documentation (IRRD), the ECMT TRANSDOC database, and the TRB Transportation Research Information Services database (TRIS). With nearly 500,000 records, TRANSPORT provides all relevant information of interest to practicing engineers, managers, researchers, educators and other professionals in the transportation sectors. Special emphasis is placed on road transportation and transportation economics. The multilingual nature of TRANSPORT (predominantly English, with articles in French, German and Spanish as well) makes it a useful tool for accessing worldwide information.
Coverage: 1920-PRESENT
Publisher: Silver Platter

MELVYL DATABASE
Internet Address: http://www.melvyl.ucop.edu

Resource Type: Online Library Catalogue
Description: A union (merged) catalogue of the holdings of libraries within the University of California system including the collection of the Institute of Transportation Studies. Contains over 9 million records with coverage 1965 - present

WORLDCAT DATABASE
Internet Address: http://firstsearch.oclc.org/
(Registration required)

Resource Type: Online Library Catalogue
Description: Records of any type of material catalogued by OCLC member libraries; contains over 39,000,000 records and part of the FirstSearch group of databases
Formats Indexed: books, microforms, dissertations, research reports, government publications, films, media, data files, audiovisual materials. The Health Reference Center multi-source database was also searched.

AMICUS - NATIONAL LIBRARY DATABASE (CANADA)
Internet Address: http://amicus.nlc-bnc.ca/aaweb/aalogine.htm
(Registration Required)

Resource Type: Online library catalogue - National
Description: A good source of Canadian government information which includes 25 million full bibliographic records and 35 million holdings of 500 Canadian libraries including the National Library of Canada

UNCOVER DATABASE
Internet Address: http://uncweb.carl.org/

Resource Type: Article and document delivery service
Description: Over 7,000,000 articles from over 17,000 journals; citation only not full-text
Formats Indexed: journals, journal articles, book reviews

EBSCOHOST DATABASE
Internet Address: http://search.epnet.com/login.asp?site=ehost
(Registration required)

Resource Type: A multidisciplinary database that provides full-text articles of journals in all areas from academic and popular sources.
Description: Examples of specific databases include MasterFile Premier, Health Source Plus, Clinical Reference Systems, Academic Search FullText Premier.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN TRANSPORTATION RESEARCH INSTITUTE
Internet Address: http://www.umtri.umich.edu
(Password required for library catalogue)

Resource Type: Research Library Catalogue and "Work in Progress 1998" database
Description: UMTRI's broad areas of transportation of multidisciplinary transportation research includes traffic safety analysis, bioengineering, human factors, mechanical engineering, psychology, crash data collection, public policy.

NTIS DATABASE
Internet Address: http://www.ntis.gov/search.htm

Resource Type: The National Technical Information Service is the central information source for U.S. government information.
Description: The free search site allows one to search more than 570,000 titles received from government agencies since 1990 including the Department of Transportation and the Department of Health.

INFORMATION EXPRESS (IE ONLINE) DATABASE
Internet Address: http://www.ieonline.com
(Registration required)

Resource Type: Article and document delivery service
Description: This database indexes the table of contents of 17,000 journal titles in all subject disciplines

NATIONAL LIBRARY OF AUSTRALIA
Internet Address: http://www.nla.gov.au/

Resource Type: Library Catalogue – National
Description: The best source for the documentary record of Australia

CANADIAN NEWSDISC
Internet Address: Subscription information from Micromedia website:
